This shows the main tent in which the sessions of General Conference were held in its last biennial meeting at the Central Church near Archbold, Ohio, August 26-28, 1931. The capacity of the tent was variously estimated, but quite probably six thousand people attended some of the sessions. The size of the tent was 80 by 200 feet. Loud speakers were located at different places throughout the tent and the grounds so that every one, even those working in the dining tent had a chance to hear the deliberations of Conference. See article on page 18.

INTRODUCTION

Once more we take pleasure in presenting to you the annual Year Book and Directory of the Mennonite Church. This is our official statistical publication and records the changes and progress of the work of the Church in a way that can be found in no other periodical. We have again carefully revised the list of our bishops, ministers, deacons, mission workers, and workers at our church institutions, such as old people's and children's homes, schools, the hospital, and the publishing house. The memberships of our congregations, and conferences have also been carefully revised according to the reports of secretaries or other responsible informants in the conference districts. These will be found to be quite accurate. On page 76 these totals will be found: Membership of the Church as a whole, 48,226, in the United States, 42,379. By comparing these totals with those of last year we find that the gain as a whole is 1,037, and in the United States, 830. The gain is not phenomenal when percentage is figured, but after all it shows that we are a growing body, and indications of growth are always encouraging. In 1922 the total membership was listed at 34,845. According to this the gain over a ten-year period was 13,381, or nearly 33 per cent. We realize, of course, that the figures are approximate, but we are sure that there have been substantial gains for the kingdom as far as membership in our own beloved church is concerned.

We wish to call especial attention to the tabulated report of our Sunday school work on page 36. This is a new feature and deserves careful study.

The past year will perhaps be outstanding as the time when the financial depression was very severe. But however hard the depression has been upon the incomes of our people we are glad that the contributions for missionary and charitable purposes have kept up well enough to continue to carry on all the work that has been undertaken and that no work has had to be abandoned on that account. Comparisons of the receipts of this year and last reveal that there was a decrease of contributions amounting to $21,461.61, but further comparisons show that they are higher than the amounts given in 1930 and 1929. So we have reasons to feel grateful for the generous response of our people in contributing financially to the causes sponsored by the Church.

Three new missionaries were sent to foreign fields, one to India and two to South America. This is counteracted in the latter field by deaths, and protracted furloughs that were made necessary on the part of some missionaries because of uncontrollable circumstances. On the whole our foreign mission work is growing, and both India and South America report enlarged activities and gains in membership.

Our home missions have also been active. There have been no spectacular developments, but our workers have been faithfully sowing the seed of the Word and there have been under the blessing of God some visible results. There seems to be a continued reaching out on the part of our home congregations to regions near by where there is spiritual need and open doors.

We are glad for these evidences of missionary activity among our people. A live missionary spirit indicates an active, spiritual church. May this barometer indicate which way we are traveling, and may each one of us aim to be more faithful to our profession during the coming year than ever before.

OUTSTANDING EVENTS IN OUR HOME AND FOREIGN MISSION WORK DURING 1931

By V. E. Reiff

The work of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities is carried on during each year by the officers who work in accordance with the direction of the Executive and Mission Committees and the decisions made at the Annual Mission Board Meeting.

The first meeting held in the year 1931 was the joint meeting of the Executive and Mission Committees held at Elkhart, Ind., Feb. 24, 1931, with the following members present: D. D. Miller, President; S. C. Yoder, Secretary; V. E. Reiff, Treasurer; Levi Mumaw, Vice President; S. F. Coffman, Daniel Kauffman, C. Z. Yoder, S. E. Allgyer, J. L. Stauffer, M. C. Cressman.

During the year the Executive Committee met to transact business on the following dates: March 20, April 8, April 14, April 30, May 2, June 6, June 30, July 13, July 30, Aug. 22, Aug. 26, Aug. 27, Sept. 5, Oct. 16, Nov. 21 and Dec. 22.

In order to save expense the full Executive Committee was not always called for all of these meetings and a number of the meetings held were informal meetings held by the President, Secretary, and Treasurer.

The Mission Committee met with the Executive Committee on Feb. 24, April 30, May 1 and 2, Aug. 22 and Aug. 26.

The problems that are presented to your Mission Board through its Executive Committee are very difficult and it is only through the guidance of the Holy Spirit and answer to the prayers of the brotherhood that we are able to record the mission activities which were carried on during the year 1931. Truly the Lord Jesus Christ who is our leader and captain should be praised for what has been accomplished and all of us as your servants earnestly pray that even more may be accomplished during the year 1932 for the advancement of God's kingdom by our own beloved church.

Truly we have a great message and a great commission and each of us as individuals must decide, Will the Lord find me faithful? For your information we humbly submit the following statistics:

A glance at the above comparison will no doubt be of interest. You will also find elsewhere in this report a summary of money contributed through the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities during the year 1931 as published from the financial reports printed in the Gospel Herald from month to month. You will at once notice that the totals as reported in the Gospel Herald include all contributions made through the city missions and charitable institutions and also all contributions made to District Conference Mission Boards and all other organizations that report to the General Treasurer's office from time to time.

The above statement of contributions received for the year 1931 is the amount of actual cash that has been handled in this office as contributions. The item of Other Cash Received covers interest collections on mortgages, repayments of mortgage loans and all other items that are not contributions for the mission activities.

Mission Endowment and Annuities

While it is the purpose of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities to systematize and extend the work of evangelization, to establish and support home and foreign missions, to care and provide for orphans and the aged; it is also the purpose of this corporation to receive and hold all donations and bequests, and property, and funds from other sources and manage, rent, lease, improve, sell or otherwise dispose of all real estate and personal property that may come into the possession of said institution from any source, and to manage, control, loan, and invest all the funds of said institution. It is also necessary for the Board to disburse all contributions according to the wishes of the donors. The handling of annuity and endowment funds in itself is a large work, as you will notice by the above statistics showing the amount of money which is invested.

Some of our endowments are received as bequests upon the death of the donors. However, many of the endowments which we now hold were first contributed on the annuity plan and became endowments at the death of the donor.

At the end of 1931 we began a series of articles in the Gospel Herald explaining the advantages of making contributions on the Annuity Contract Plan in order to bring to the donor during his or her natural life an income that does not shrink.

A pamphlet was also published, Christian Stewardship Plus Annuity Gift Contracts, by Bro. J. S. Shoemaker.

A pamphlet showing a reprint of the ten articles appearing in the Gospel Herald is also available and we are glad to send from the General Treasurer's office at 1711 Prairie Street, Elkhart, Indiana, information of the need for contributions to Endowment or the Annuity Plan and we want to assure you that no person is put under any obligation by asking for information.

It is very evident that the Lord's work would be amply supplied if all of us as members of the Mennonite Church would realize that "it is required in stewards that a man be found faithful." Many investments were made by our brethren during the past five years that are a partial or entire loss to the investor. Have you provided adequately for missions? Provision can be made at the present time by: 1. Taking out an Annuity Contract. 2. Signing an estate note and sending it to General Treasurer's office. 3. Making a bequest in the following manner:

Form of Devise for Personal Property

"I hereby bequeath, and devise to the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, principal office at Elkhart, Indiana, the following.....Dollars and the income of this gift is to be used as an endowment for the benefit of the (Here name the institution for which the proceeds are to be used)."

Form of Devise for Real Estate

"I hereby bequeath, and devise to the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, principal office at Elkhart, Indiana, the following described lot, parcel, or tract of land with the buildings thereon: (Here describe the premises with exactness)————to be held and possessed by said Board, their successors and assigns forever, the proceeds of said property to be used for the benefit of the (Here name the institution for which the proceeds are to be used.)"

In making a will to the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities you will do this office a favor if you will send a copy of that portion of the will for our records and you may be assured that such information will be held strictly confidential.

You may deed your property now to the Board, reserving in the deed the privilege of a life lease. Record your deed in the County Recorder's office and forward the deed to Elkhart. Why delay longer your good intentions to provide for the continuing of your testimony after you have gone to your reward? Prompt action bars regrets.

A few activities of the General Board during the year 1931 are listed here:

INDIA MISSION

Our first mission to a non-Christian land was opened on Nov. 22, 1899, at Dhamtari, C. P., India. The Lord has wonderfully blessed the work and we are able to report 27 missionaries on the field at the end of the year 1931. During the year 1931 Brother and Sister Troyer and their three children and a new missionary, Sister Dora Shantz, a registered nurse of Elkhart, Ind., arrived in India, Oct. 12.

Our India Mission suffered a very great loss in the death of Dr. C. D. Esch on Feb. 21, 1931. Since Dr. Troyer was on furlough and Dr. Florence Friesen with P. A. Friesen and family left Bombay on Feb. 20, 1931, for their furlough in America, the mission was left without a doctor in the death of Dr. Esch and this indeed was a very sad condition for the mission. Dr. Troyer was prepared to return in the fall of the year but just before he arrived, on Oct. 1, 1931, Evelyn Lucille Beare, daughter of George Beare was called home to heaven. Sister Minnie Kanagy and Sister Ada Hartzler left India for their furlough March 11, 1931.

In connection with the work in India a large number of our brethren and sisters in America had a definite part in this great work. Fifty-two individuals or Sunday school classes supported the India Medical work on the Share Plan during the year 1931. Thirty individuals or Sunday school classes furnished support on the Share Plan for the India Evangelistic Fund. Twenty-five Bible women were furnished support. Twenty-nine Indian evangelists were furnished support. Six academy teachers were fully supported. Twenty-two station primary teachers were supported. Thirteen primary village school teachers were supported. Nineteen missionaries' children were supported. Thirty-two missionaries were supported on the field or on furlough.

The following comparison of amounts remitted on monthly budget may be of interest:

SOUTH AMERICA

Our missionary activity in Argentina was begun in 1917 by Bro. and Sister Hershey and Bro. and Sister Shank. This work is located south and west of Buenos Aires. At the present time our church is being represented in Argentina by sixteen missionaries. Bro. J. W. Shank and Sister Shank, Salena Gamber, and Vera Hallman are at the present time on furlough. During the year 1931 Bro. and Sister Swartzentruber returned to the field on October 31 and they took with them new missionaries, Bro. Lewis Weber and Sister Edna Weber, formerly of Toronto Mission.

Up to the present time the Church in America has been supporting the work in Argentina largely through the General Fund and special support for eighteen missionaries and fourteen missionaries' children. Twenty-one Christian evangelists, Bible readers and Kindergarten helpers are giving their full time in bringing the Gospel message to Argentina.

It will be noted on the statement of Special Foreign Missionary Needs issued from the office in Elkhart that we are expecting during the year 1932 to assign shares to those who are willing to help in the evangelistic effort in the main station evangelistic support and the out station evangelistic support and also in the South America Orphan Support. Without the prayers and financial support of the Church in the home land the work of the missionaries cannot be a success and let us remember them and their needs daily at the throne of grace and give of our means. Surely we can expect a report of much work being done during the coming year.

CITY MISSIONS

The General Mission Board has assumed the responsibility for the support of eight city mission stations and we find at the end of the year 1931 that all of these city mission funds have required more money to supply their needs than the amount of contributions that were received for these stations. Our brethren who are laboring faithfully in these city mission stations are very much interested in bringing the Gospel message to those who attend their services. A word of encouragement and a contribution to help meet these needs will indeed be a great help.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS

The General Mission Board is directly responsible for the Orphans' Home at West Liberty, Ohio, and the Children's Home, Kansas City, Kans., the Home for Aged at Eureka, Ill., and the La Junta Hospital and Sanitarium in Colorado. The financial needs for these institutions are being furnished largely by the support which these institutions receive from those who receive the benefit of the institution. However, there is a constant need for improvements in order to meet the requirements of the states in which these institutions are located. At the end of the year 1931 the General Board has the continued shortage in the Building Fund of the La Junta Hospital and Sanitarium and we are hopeful that this need will be supplied by Annuity contributions and bequests which may be received during the year 1932.

During the year 1931 a record was kept by congregations showing the amount of contributions received during the year for these four groups of funds and it is the purpose of the General Treasurer's office to place the responsibility of the work in India, South America, City Missions, and Charitable Institutions upon the hearts of our brethren and sisters.

It is true that we receive and appreciate all contributions for the General Mission Fund and other funds which are forwarded to this office from time to time, but in order to carry on the work the budgets must be provided for India, for South America, for City Missions and Charitable Institutions and as these different needs are assumed by our brethren, the work of the General Mission Board will be carried on with greater success.

EASTERN MENNONITE BOARD OF MISSIONS AND CHARITIES

Bro. Harry L. Herr, Secretary of the Eastern Board, has cited a number of important activities of this organization during the year 1931. Two additional mission stations were opened:

Mecksville and Miners' Village. Two shipments of clothing were sent to Canada. The vice president of the Board, Bro. Orie O. Miller, visited the Russian Mennonites in Brazil and Paraguay. In addition to what was reported in the Missionary Messenger the Board contributed $3333.00 toward the support of the Paraguay colony, and $100.00 toward a special fund maintained by the brethren in Paraguay to aid in expenses connected with the religious work in the colony. The Board also contributed for needy children in Porto Rico $300.00, to the A. R. C. for drought relief, $500.00; to the American Bible Society, $25.00. The feeling to establish a mission in Africa seems to be growing.

INDIA MISSION DEVELOPMENTS IN 1931

By J. N. Kaufman

The Evangelistic Board as organized last year began its work from April 1, 1931. As stated in the constitution the membership consists of one representative from each congregation, making eight Indian members and as many missionary members, the entire board consisting of sixteen members. These sixteen members have chosen their own Executive Committee consisting of six members—three Indians and three missionaries.

It was not the intention of the Evangelistic Board to uproot matters ignoring all past precedence and traditions, for they felt that a great deal of work had been done which was constructive and of a permanent nature but there were certain things which they very much desired to change or improve as experience from the angle of this board justified action. Accordingly they proceeded slowly with eyes open to anything by which they could strengthen the work of the Lord as it was functioning through this board. A vast amount of experience has been acquired, the Indian members receiving a great deal of information, encouragement, and training in this responsibility and it has been a very great help to the missionary members to get the viewpoint of their Indian colaborers.

It was seen that so far as the expenditure of money is concerned they are just as conservative, if not in many cases more so, as the missionaries. This bodes well for the future, and we believe that as the Indian members grow in experience they will react to this added responsibility in a way that is highly commendable, and in the future additional responsibility can well be assumed by this Board.

One feature of their work has been the organization of a special Gospel team. This team is composed of four members, only one of whom is a foreigner. Bro. Beare is leader of this Gospel team. They have been preaching the Gospel in a number of villages in several districts, both from the angle of local congregation and also in separate places independently. Their work of late has been unusually encouraging. The work that is being done at the present time is done in two main periods of the day, from 11 to 3 in the daytime and then from 8 o'clock to towards midnight, these being the two best periods of the day when the people are ready to come to meetings. Log fires in the evening, around which the village men gather and hear the Gospel story, are a very fine feature of these meetings for, after having had their evening meal, they are ready to sit for hours around this log fire, entranced with the story of a loving Savior who gave His life for the sheep. We believe that this is a very effective way to preach the Gospel in the villages. Not only do the preachers preach but they engage in personal and private conversation; they sing; they meet people on their own level, and thus bring to bear on their neglected lives the weight of the Christian message. We are greatly encouraged by this work.

Another feature of this year's work has been the organization of so-called preacher-teacher schools. We have not many up to date, but we have made the beginning in something which promises to be of permanent value. The village schools, as at present conducted, have their great value, and we are by no means proposing at the present time to close them, but we feel that we are not able to do as much in these schools as we would like to see done, hence we are beginning to stress one-teacher schools, schools which will touch the lives of the people more or less thoroughly in the village where the school is located and working more intensively. The teacher in such a school must be a man of all-round ability, this ability to be consecrated to the service of the Master and applied in every legitimate way practicable for the needs of the people in his village. His work is not to be confined only to the children of school-going age but he must minister to the needs of the small children. He must minister to the needs of those who have passed beyond the school age. He must minister to the needs of old men and women of the village. He must be interested in better village life, in a cleaner village, and he must be a man of such character that people who have troubles can with confidence appeal to him who is glad to help them in all their troubles. He must be a man willing to give twenty-four hours of his time and if possible to organize a night school for the benefit of the older ones who wish to learn to read and write.

The Christian Community at Dondi, India

One such night school has already been opened at Dondi with Bro. Brunk in charge. It was with more or less difficulty that he started the night school because the people thought that they could not possibly learn to read. However, by their careful efforts and application they were able to inspire confidence and, at the present writing, they have twenty people ranging in age from ten years up to fifty-two. They even have a class of ten or a dozen boys who are learning a little English. This night school has helped Bro. and Sister Brunk and the workers of Dondi to establish a fine point of contact with the people of their station. Our missionary friends of the Church of the Brethren in the western part of India, who have admitted many people into the Church, are attributing their present success to the organizing of night schools of which they have a large number. We feel here that the expansion of night schools, of which a beginning has been made this year, should have our very best consideration.

Then another feature which has received a good deal of emphasis this year is the appointment of pastors for our churches. Hitherto missionaries have been willing to assume this responsibility, having been chosen by the congregations. Missionaries are still willing, but due to the large amount of work for which they are responsible they feel that it is impossible to give sufficient time to the congregations to do their work properly and the work, especially in large congregations, is very considerable. There are many things which should be done in the congregations which are being neglected due to lack of time. We would like to see Indian pastors chosen and installed to take up these responsible duties. We cannot make any definite statements at this time but are hopefully looking for satisfactory developments in the very near future.

There is a church council in each of the congregations who directly assist the pastors and deacons in local administration. Conditions arose in the Sundarganj Church which made it necessary to strengthen this local council by increasing its members from seven to fourteen lay members. As at present constituted, these fourteen members with the ordained men of the congregation make a total of nineteen members. These have assumed a larger share of disciplinary matters, carrying out the rules which the congregation has adopted. Already there are encouraging signs of improvement, for men who have been out of the church due to misconduct for a number of years have made application to be reinstated into the Church. There is a decided desire on the part of this council to live and administer according to the rules and decisions of the Conference, and this has been very encouraging to all those who have the growth of the Church at heart.

This last feature is especially important because of the present agitation in India for swaraj (home rule), and might have far-reaching implications in respect to foreign missionaries. Our mission is well enough organized with the point of view of a strong missionary personnel constantly on the field, but we are not sufficiently well organized for the continuation of the Church should the time come when the missionaries should be asked to leave the country. We wish for our strong Indian leaders to assume the responsibility of the Church so that whether there are missionaries on the field or not the Church should go on in swaraj India, preaching and living the glorious message in its purity and power.

THE GENEROUS GIVER

A poor woman stood at a gate and looked over into the vineyard. "Would you like some grapes?" asked the proprietor. "I should be very thankful," replied the woman. "Then bring your basket."

Quickly the basket was brought to the gate. The owner took it and was gone a long time among the vines, till the woman became discouraged, thinking that he was not coming again. At last he returned with the basket heaped full. "I have made you wait a good while," he said, "but you know the longer you have to wait the better the grapes and the more."

So it sometimes is in prayer. We bring our empty vessel to God and pass it over the gate of prayer to Him. He seems to be delaying a long time, and sometimes faith faints with waiting. But at last He comes, and our basket is heaped full with luscious blessings. He waited long that He might bring us a better and fuller measure.—J. R. Miller.

TO SAY A WORD FOR CHRIST

Margaret E. Sangster

God gave me something very sweet
To be mine own this day—
A precious opportunity,
A word for Christ to say;
A soul that my desire might reach,
A work to do for Him;
And now I thank Him for His grace,
Ere yet the light grows dim.

No service that He sends me on
Can be so welcome, aye,
To guide a pilgrim's weary feet
Within the narrow way;
To share the Shepherd's quest,
And so, by brake and fen,
To find for Him His wandering lambs,
The erring sons of men.

I did not seek this blessed thing;
It came a rare surprise,
Flooding my heart with dearest joy,
As, lifting wistful eyes,
Heaven's light upon a dear one's face
Shone plain and clear on mine;
And there an unseen third, I felt,
Was waiting—One Divine.

So in this twilight hour I kneel,
And pour my grateful thought
In song and prayer to Jesus
For the gifts this day hath brought.
Sure never service is so sweet,
Nor life hath so much zest,
As when He bids me speak for Him,
And then He does the rest.

THE YEAR 1931 IN THE ARGENTINE MENNONITE MISSION

By J. W. Shank

The year opened with all the missionary force, excepting Sisters Hallman and Gamber, on the field. The first month is usually the most strenuous, because in the first week we have our annual Mission Council and the last week our annual Church and Sunday School Conference.

The Mission Council, as usual, dealt with questions that relate to the missionaries and to our relations with the home board. One interesting decision was that we study the Argentine field more widely, with the idea of opening work in some entirely new section of the country as opportunity may come. A committee was appointed to do some special investigating. Another decision of importance was that, since the time has come when we should draw more from our native sources for the future evangelization of our particular district, we would in the present year take some definite steps in that direction.

The annual conference of our native churches was also very interesting, because of the fact that the native people show an increased interest and feeling of responsibility for the work. A new movement was launched, looking toward placing much greater responsibility upon the native churches. A special committee, composed of five members, two nationals and three missionaries, was appointed. The committee, which is in reality a local mission board, has the responsibility of controlling the funds raised by the native churches, fixing budgets for the various stations, examining, appointing and locating native workers. In some of these matters the committee works with the assembly of pastors in reaching its final decisions. The new movement seemed to please the native churches, with the result that we have felt a general spirit of coöperation during the year.

We should here refer to a few things that have been done by this new organization during the year. One was to adopt the policy not to ask the general board to support any new native workers, but to aim at getting their support here on the field. This is quite a significant step, since it means the shouldering of heavy responsibility in the way of the future evangelization of our field. In accordance with this decision one sister was appointed to be a worker in the town of Pellegrini. This place was visited weekly by Bro. Snyder, while the native sister remained all the time working as she could.

Another important step was the opening of a new station in Maza, under the auspices of the new board. This work has gone forward in a surprising manner. We have many reasons to believe that the Lord is working with us.

In March our Bible school opened with some increase in attendance. During the year we were saddened by the loss of one of our most advanced students. In spite of this the work went on nicely until the end of the school year. We have had several night classes, as well as noon-hour classes for persons who are working during the day. This has been encouraging, but not altogether satisfactory, because a completely regular attendance is not possible.

All of our congregations report a better attendance in our services this year. Quite a number of new families are coming to the services, which means that the influence of each congregation is being extended. Trenque Lauquen has built up a larger Sunday school, has more young people in the Church, and has a progressive work in another part of town. From Pehuajo the Christian young people coöperated well with the pastor in visiting regularly several towns near by. The Carlos Casares church is visiting regularly several other towns and a very keen interest has been aroused. The Tres Lomas members have accompanied the pastor in his trips to other towns and also to special cottage meetings in another section of town. The church in America is working in two other towns at present. Also Bragado and Santa Rosa are giving time to towns near by. The following table will show this more clearly:

Regular Station	Out-station established before 1930	Out-station established in 1930	Out-station established in 1931	Other towns visited regularly	Sub-stations in same town
Pehuajo	Madero			two
T. Lauquen		Pellegrini	Maza	one	one
Santa Rosa				two	one
C. Casares			Montezuma	four
Tres Lomas		30 de Agosto			one
America	Meridiano Quinto		Cuenca
Bragado	Mechita			two	one
Passo				one
8	3	2	3	12	4

A glance at the above program for the various stations will show that each missionary and native pastor has plenty to occupy his time.

The Orphanage has continued as during last year. Many applicants came, desiring entrance, but the quarters are too small to accommodate more. We are hoping that by another year we will have more space for this needy work.

The month of November was one of changes. In that month the Swartzentrubers returned to the field, accompanied by the Webers who are new workers. Just one week later the writer of this article with his wife and son sailed for the homeland to join their two older children who sailed last July. In the interim of a week after the arrival of those from North America and our sailing, all the missionaries had several days of mission council together. Though the days were crowded with business, it was a profitable season for all of us.

1931 IN HISTORY

By J. C. Clemens

1. Has the Church Kept Pace with Former Years?

The Mennonite Church had her gains and losses, as the final balance sheet will show when we close the books for the year. When we behold the records we can always find places where work was neglected and where improvements could have been made; but every failure should be a step to success. In that respect history is of value in showing to us where our work may be improved.

In the major activity to which the Church is commissioned, namely the ingathering of lost souls, the results of the past year are encouraging. This may not be the case everywhere, but generally speaking there has been a susceptibility on the part of the unsaved to embrace the Gospel to a greater degree than during some other periods.

While the Church as a whole has not entered into any large missionary enterprise, possibly on account of economic conditions, she did press out into home fields which meant less expense and material help so that neglected parts were reached, the everlasting Gospel was taught and preached, and souls were saved. We believe many examples of this kind of work could be cited by looking through the records of the past year. A hill country in eastern Pennsylvania, within ten miles of a large Mennonite section, had been without church or Sunday school facilities for many years, until the Lord moved upon the local mission board of the Franconia District to organize a few Sunday schools in private dwellings and later in more commodious meeting places where children and parents of different creeds, races and nationalities could assemble every Sunday and be taught the simple, glorious, Christ-way of life. Preaching services were also instituted, and the Gospel was pressed home to lost souls.

Such events are truly worthy of record, and we are assured that they are recorded in the book of life. We, however, should not look for numbers as the only index of spiritual growth in the Church. The opening of the way to sow the Gospel seed and the zeal on the part of the workers to take advantage of this opportunity must be considered as real progress.

2. Worldly Drift.

Decided efforts have been put forth in some sections to counteract the worldly drift, and the Lord is blessing these labors of love.

A decade of prosperity has thrown many plain folks into channels of worldliness, fashions in dress, high-priced automobiles, modern homes etc., hence drastic efforts are made to check this tide. There seems to be a more general expression on the part of the Church to correct this evil, which movement is encouraging to the leaders of the Church. The text of the Conference sermon at General Conference at Archbold, Ohio, was, "Let us go on to perfection."

3. Has She Gained or Lost by the Worldly Depression?

The missions, schools, and welfare work have suffered undoubtedly, although the spirit of self-sacrifice was manifest, so that it may be said, "That in the great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their liberality" (II Cor. 8:2).

If the Church had tried to compete in accumulating large sums of money for church edifices, schools, and other competitive enterprises, the record for the past year might be discouraging, but the Lord computes success quite differently. He is not in need of funds, since He owns the universe, and there is no depreciating of the sum total.

The depression had the effect of drawing men to God. It brought a halt into the lives of many souls and when they came to themselves they said with the prodigal, "I will arise and go to my father." Christ preached the Gospel to the poor because they heard Him gladly. Under the present conditions the rich are in want as well as the poor, because their income from investments has stopped so that God is calling all. The year has been conducive to our spiritual welfare.

4. What Has She Gained on Doctrinal Lines?

One of the outstanding features of strength in any organization is that there may be a concensus of opinion among its members. If that can be said of a church organization relative to doctrine she can go on with a solid front. Several committees in the past year were appointed to work toward that end and we believe confidence has been gained so that the Lord's work may better succeed.

1932 will be the three hundredth anniversary of the adoption of the Dort articles of Faith in Holland. In the historical meeting last August at Archbold, Ohio, it was suggested that that date should be commemorated next year. A special meeting should be held and we suggest that these articles be gone over. If the Church at large could subscribe to this outline of faith it would go a great way toward unifying the body on doctrinal lines so that she would be better equipped to meet the "isms" and issues of the world to-day.

5. An Awakening to the Value of Historical Data.

Everywhere we meet with folks digging up church history. The movement seems to be church-wide; young and old are equally interested. A student from one of the church schools undertook to get records of the Sunday school work in her home conference district, arranged questionnaires and made the round to about seventeen different Sunday school districts, asking innumerable questions as to organization, superintendents, choristers, offerings, etc., down to the present time, and expects to write an article on Sunday school work. A write-up of this nature is considered of value to a student in history.

The questionnaires that made the rounds in behalf of the new Mennonite Church History had the effect of stirring up one district to organize a historical society, which has had periodical meetings ever since. These meetings are well attended and great interest is manifested. Old books, records, deeds, drafts, and accounts are brought to these meetings and have opened the eyes of those present to the possibilities of gathering valuable and interesting historical material.

The close of the year 1931 has brought to light a complete history of the Lancaster Conference District, compiled by Bro. M. G. Weaver, New Holland, Pa. Other districts are likewise accumulating what remains of valued material still at hand. It is a great misfortune that the Church did not see the value of keeping records earlier, or even from the very beginning of the organization. Statistical data are obtained from tombstones, but many of the old "field stones" in the Colonial cemeteries have crumbled to dust by the effects of the elements. Some of these valuable markers have been lost or buried in leveling the burying grounds. It is very strange how at this time a new interest is being created in exhuming and preserving these relics.

It is said that when Columbus had discovered America and was making his return trip home he and his crew were overtaken in a terrible storm. He suffered great agony, not that he was afraid of his life or that of the crew, but that his wonderful discovery of a new world would never be known even though they were not far from home. So he prepared records, put them into bottles and left them float on the briny deep hoping that they might reach land.

There are events of equal value in the affairs of the Church of Jesus Christ, that, if on record, may help some despairing soul to a better land.

Lansdale, Pa.

IMPORTANT COMMITTEE ACTIVITIES

By Daniel Kauffman

Webster defines a committee as "A body of persons appointed or elected to consider, investigate, or take action upon, and usually to report, concerning some matter of business." This body may consist of any number of persons.

While the name "committee" is not found in Scripture, the method of appointing some one or some group to look after some special work was quite prominent in the work of the early Church. For illustration, when Christ sent out His disciples He sent them out in pairs. When the seventy who were sent out on the work of evangelization came back to report they said, "Even the devils are subject unto us." When Christ wanted to eat the Passover with His disciples He appointed Peter and John as a committee to look after the necessary preparations. In like manner Peter and John were sent to Samaria to examine into and to direct the work there, Barnabas was sent to Antioch, and after the Jerusalem conference (Acts 15) Judas and Silas were appointed as a committee to accompany Barnabas and Paul to Antioch and represent the Church in laying the Conference decisions before the brotherhood there.

There is an advantage in assigning special tasks to specially appointed and gifted brethren, as it not only puts such matters into the hands of competent workers, but they feeling the special responsibility resting upon them, feel constrained to make special study and investigation of the problems placed before them. On the other hand, this, like every other good thing in the Church, may be made a curse rather than a blessing, largely because those vested with responsibility fail to make the most of their opportunities. But where special tasks are committed to specially qualified brethren, and these are given ample time and opportunity to study their problems and act upon them, the cause of Christ is invariably strengthened through the aid of committees—provided the responsibility of final action is placed upon the Church after hearing the report of its committees.

In recent years much of the hard work in the Mennonite Church has been done through the instrumentality of committees. There are at the present time nine general committees appointed by or responsible to the Mennonite General Conference, as follows:

Historical Committee.
Music Committee.
General Problems Committee.
Peace Problems Committee.
General Sunday School Committee.
Interboard Committee.
Young People's Problems Committee.
Church Polity Committee.
Young People's Bible Topics Committee.

These, with the exception of the Church Polity Committee, are all standing committees, to serve until General Conference sees fit to discontinue them. As for the Church Polity Committee, that is to go out of existence when it has completed its work, unless General Conference sees fit to change this into a standing committee. It would be interesting to define the work of each of these committees, but lack of space forbids this. The nature of their work is evident from the reports of these various committees as they appear in the full report of the last session of the Mennonite General Conference. Should you fail to have access to one of these reports, they may be had by sending to the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa.

Not only has the Mennonite General Conference made extended use of the work of standing and special committees, but each of our district conferences and each of the other Church-wide or district organizations has its important standing or special committees. It has been found that where persons are specially appointed for a special work they give the work closer attention and, as a rule, arrive at better and safer conclusions than when the same class of thinkers and workers count themselves as but so many workers among the "multitude of counsellors."

As pointed out before, the work is not done when a committee brings in its report. It should rather be looked upon as being but a studied effort to bring the certain matter for which the committee had been appointed into proper shape for intelligent consideration of the deliberative bodies.

For illustration: We have in mind a report on which a committee of five brethren had been laboring together for two years. It was a painstaking report, and met with general approval. But when the report had been submitted one brother arose and said, "If this committee worked on this report for two years, I am sure we can not improve on it in a few minutes. I move that the report be adopted." The motion was carried on short order. Right there is where the conference made a serious mistake. A half hour's discussion would have brought the principal features of the report to the attention of the Conference, and weaknesses might have been pointed out. But even if the report would have been adopted without changes, the membership would have acted upon it more intelligently, would have presented it to their home congregations more intelligently and impressively, than they did by taking for granted that the report was all right because a committee of five had labored on it faithfully for two years. Committees, if wisely chosen, are a help; but they are no substitute for the body to which they are responsible. No deliberative body is intelligent enough to pass wisely upon a report that they themselves have not carefully examined. "In the multitude of counsellors there is safety"—provided they counsel over the matters which they pass upon, rather than put a rubber stamp upon reports without giving them proper attention. Our Church counsels are safe only as long as our conferences and other Church organizations remain deliberative bodies.

We get most out of our committee activities when we observe the following:

1. Select committee members who are sound in the faith, loyal to God and the Church, of balanced judgment, well versed in the things they are to investigate and pass upon, are prompted by conviction, and have time to complete their work.
2. Support the committees in our prayers and sympathetic coöperation.
3. Give their reports thoughtful and prayerful consideration before adopting them.
4. Let all the deliberations be governed by a "thus saith the Lord."
5. After a report is once adopted, make an honest effort to put its precepts into practice.

THE TWISTED PINE

Bent, and gnarled, and twisted,
It clings to its rocky hold,
Where the storms of many a winter
Have lashed its branches old;
The north wind, wild, tumultuous,
Would fain have torn it away,
But deep in the cleft of the rock
Its root clung day by day.

All through the languid summers,
While the sun beamed warm and sweet,
It grasped with a firmer embrace
The broken rocks at its feet;
It twined its crooked rootlets
Into the crevices small,
And the sudden gusts of Autumn
Could not move it at all.

But the northwest winds were mighty
And bent it far to the sun,
And the young tree could not grow
Straight, as it would have done;
But e'en in its gnarled old branches
A beauty seems to dwell,
And though it be bent and twisted
My heart still loves it well.

There's many a life all burdened
And bent with pain and care,
Who would fain have grown in splendor
Straight and true and fair;
But the soul still clings more staunchly
While the tempests beat and roar,
And though to the world imperfect
God's heart may love it the more.

GENERAL CONFERENCE

By Simon Gingerich

The seventeenth Mennonite General Conference was held near Archbold, Ohio, Aug. 26-28, 1931. This Conference has grown to the extent that it is no small task to provide for it. Fulton Co., Ohio, was considered a very favorable place for the meeting from several viewpoints. First, there is a large settlement of Mennonite people, worshiping at three different churches, with a total membership of about eleven hundred. Second, the location is quite central for the Church as a whole. Third, this section of Ohio is well supplied with a system of good roads which adds much to the convenience of both guest and host, during conference time, in this age of automobiles.

To provide, adequately, for a crowd of people that numbers in the thousands requires a well-organized system. Accordingly, the Executive Committee of General Conference appointed two of its number, viz., the moderator, Bro. S. E. Allgyer, West Liberty, Ohio, and the treasurer, Bro. J. C. Frey, Archbold, Ohio, to assist the brotherhood in Fulton County to effect an organization to provide for the meeting. They met with them on Jan. 29, 1931, and fourteen committees were appointed. These committees began to plan their work at once. Their motto was, "Economy and Efficiency." With the hearty support and coöperation of the congregation they were enabled to do their part well. No charges were made for the large amount of labor and truck service rendered, nor for the comfortable lodgings and bountiful meals furnished in the homes.

The Central Church ground was the scene of the meeting. Some adjoining ground was rented. A large tent, eighty by two hundred feet, was placed in the field just south of the church ground. Here all the public meetings were held. Most of the committees and executive sessions of the delegate body met in the church for their work. Ample parking space was provided for the hundreds of automobiles, and the natural woods, just across the road from the church, provided a fine camping ground for those who preferred an outing of that kind. A large dining and cooking tent was placed between two rows of sheds on the church grounds. The steam cooking system was again utilized. The grounds were well arranged and the sanitation was excellent. Loud speakers were placed at different places on the ground and in the tents, which enabled every one to hear the messages delivered in the audience tent, and at night everything was electrically lighted.

As usual, this year again several side meetings were held near the scene of General Conference. At Topeka, Indiana, the Publication Board met in its regular session on August 19-21.

At the same time a number of the young people gathered together at Goshen College for a few days of instruction and Christian fellowship, ending in a Christian Life Conference. On Sunday morning regular services were held in all three of the churches in Fulton County, followed by a fundamentals conference in the afternoon and evening. On Monday forenoon of August 24, a Christian Life Conference was held on the conference grounds followed by the Young People's Problems Committee's Program in the evening. The next day was devoted to a program given under the auspices of the Mennonite Board of Education in the forenoon, and the General Sunday School Committee in the afternoon and evening. The above meetings were noted for their inspirational and timely talks and should prove to be a real help to each one who was present.

The Committee on Arrangements was in session on Monday and Tuesday. This committee is composed of the Executive Committee of General Conference, the officers of the preceding session of conference, and one member chosen by each district conference, entitled to representation in the General Conference. All the reports and business to be brought to open conference is first passed upon by this body. The work of this committee was quite heavy again this year, but the Christian spirit of unity and helpfulness pervaded and, by God's grace, the work was accomplished.

General Conference proper began on Wednesday morning, August 26, 1931. The moderator, Bro. S. E. Allgyer, presided. The Conference sermon was delivered by Bro. Daniel Kauffman, Scottdale, Pa., using as a basis the clause, "Let us go on," taken from Heb. 6:1. The message brought from the text seemed to carry a helpful influence through the entire meeting. Stirring messages were also brought on the following subjects: "The Minister Magnifying His Office," "Religious Liberty," "Helps and Hindrances in Maintaining the Purity of the Church," "Receiving Christ as Savior and Lord," "The Home as Related to the Church of To-morrow," "The Unchanging Gospel in the Changing World," and "Contending for the Faith Effectively."

A View of the Conference Grounds. The Dining Tent is in the Foreground, the Church immediately back of it. The Main Audience Tent is to the Extreme Left, Just Back of the Hitching Sheds.

Three boards, representing the Mission, the Publication, and the Educational interests of the Church each gave their reports to Conference. The work of General Conference is largely done through committees, subject to the approval of Conference. The committees provided for under the constitution are: Executive, Interboard, General Problems, and Committee on Arrangements. The committees appointed by General Conference and operating at present are: Mennonite Historical, Music, Peace Problems, General Sunday School, Young People's Problems, Young People's Meetings Topics, and Church Polity. A resolutions committee and a nominating committee are usually appointed at each meeting of Conference to facilitate the work. All of the above committees reported at this meeting. Space does not permit giving these reports here. The report of the General Problems Committee, however, deserves special mention here on account of the large scope of work done and the sound, wholesome, and scriptural advice and recommendations it gives, which should prove helpful to every member of the Mennonite church.

There was a large crowd of people in attendance, 5315 of whom registered. Twenty-seven states, Canada, the District of Columbia, and the foreign mission fields of India and South America, were represented. The ministry in attendance consisted of 54 bishops, 160 ministers, 50 deacons, and 11 ministers from other denominations. The delegate body consisted of the 54 bishops and 38 appointed delegates from the several district conferences.

In meditating upon the large crowd in attendance and the work it took to provide for such a multitude the miracle performed by the Lord Jesus in the feeding of the five thousand, with five barley loaves and two fishes, is wonderfully magnified. Thousands of dollars in actual cash and much more in time were spent for this meeting. The lasting good that will come from it will depend largely upon how faithfully the recommendations, teachings, and leadings of the Spirit will be carried out by both officers and laity of the Church. Though the meeting closed at noon on Friday, August 28, 1931, may its power and influence be felt as long as its history remains on record.

WHAT MAY THE YEAR 1932 BRING FORTH AMONG US?

By C. F. Derstine

I do not suppose that the Editor of the "Year Book" expects the writer to assume the role of a prophet, or the son of a prophet, but only to take a good dip into the past, so as to see more clearly the possibilities of the future, this time the year 1932. It is our assumption that he expects an article on "Opportunities for Christian Service in 1932."

We trust none of us will make "shipwreck of faith" in this or any succeeding year, nor be guilty of the tragedy of a wasted career in the new year, nor for any other year. We trust none of us will be allured from the service of the Lord by the allurements of a "Thessalonica City" near by as was Demas.

An Enlarged Gospel Ministry.—The world needs help; the Gospel alone can meet that need. Like Spurgeon strikingly has written, "If God has called you to be a minister, don't drivel into a king." This is life's supreme task.

More Fervent Intercession.—"Prayer changes things." Consequently the beloved Prophet Samuel realized the danger of not laying hold on God mightily when he said, "God forbid that I should sin against the Lord in ceasing to pray for you." We need an army of intercessors in 1932.

Definite Sunday School Work.—The rising generation is the hope of the Church, and the world's future. We need more teachers who take this great task seriously, and less, who upon being absent from duty, apologize thus, "I have only four boys in my class."

What if such were an Apostle Paul, a Whitefield, a Menno Simons, a Wesley, or trouble-makers like Joe Smith, whose Sunday school felt relieved when he quit as a boy, but who later began the Mormon heresy.

More Systematic Bible Teaching.—The Mennonite Church was born in an atmosphere of Bible study. She will survive every shock, as she wisely, scripturally, and constantly teaches the Word of God. No wonder Jesus said, "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures." This is the need of the hour.

Intensive Missionary Endeavor.—In the home, city, and foreign fields. Churches live that seek to carry the life-giving message elsewhere. Non-missionary churches die, and that from the heart out. This mission extends to all nations, and every creature.

Young People's Meetings. — The Young People's Meetings are the young people, or raw recruits, getting ready for the battle of life, young soldiers in camp practicing the handling of weapons, which are "not carnal, but mighty through God." May 1932 find these training camps well manned, and filled with old and new recruits.

Earnest Evangelistic Endeavor.—The heart of the Gospel is the spirit of evangelism. One of the best tests of the genuineness of a man's Christian experience, is the manifestation of interest in reaching the other person. Churches that keep their evangelistic fervor, usually have a future. May the fires of evangelism burn brighter than ever, and shine farther.

Helpers in the Gospel.—Thus wrote the Apostle Paul of some, especially sisters in the Lord. The sewing circles of the older, the junior sisters' circles of the younger in their own way make their own impress upon the populace, and their peculiar contribution to the Lord's cause. May 1932 find these helpers increased, and their area of usefulness enlarged.

Faithful Shepherding of the Flock of God.—The flock of the Lord needs good feeding and wise shepherding. It is one thing to gather the lambs into the fold, another thing to bring them up to be mature sheep. On inquiry as to the reasons for his success a good sheep-owner remarked, "I take good care of my lambs."

Wide Broadcasting of the Word of God.—"Publish and conceal not" was spoken by one of the prophets, and this should be done on a larger scale than ever the coming year, by Bible societies, by colporteurs, tract distributors, through open-air work, and by every proper means at our disposal.

Real Home Building.—The times call for this lost art, as never before. This art begins in the experience of consecrated parentage. This includes the real business of being a father, not merely in being the "old man" who hangs around the house, the man who does not dwell with his family, but at some corner grocery store, or some other "joint," or the man who spends his money for "duvock," and liquor, and swears around the place. We do not refer to that kind of an excuse of a father, but the man who makes fatherhood an earnest business. Then that remarkable business of being a true mother dare not fail among us. A mother that fills well her God-given sphere, still is the hand that rocks the cradle, and rules the world, or failing in her task, wrecks the world. God give us more home builders in 1932.

Givers.—The Church needs her givers and the givers need the activities of the Church, for it is still true, and will be in 1932 that "the liberal soul shall be made fat." This is true from the large gifts upward to the "widow's mite." The man with the callous hands is just as much of a missionary behind the lines, as the man up at the front of service. Long may they work together.

Doing Good.—The shortest write-up about the life of Jesus was just dropped incidentally, by Peter, and yet is tremendously far-reaching in its application. It is this: "Jesus . . . went about doing good." Paul writes in about the same words to the Galatian Christians, "Let us not be weary in well-doing." One of the earmarks of those that shall come forth at the first resurrection is that they have "done good." May there be much of this, for God is greatly glorified when His people follow the Lord in this genuine Christian characteristic.

Other Callings.—If the Lord does not call a man to other callings than preaching the Gospel, then these folks ought to find their right place. However, we believe there is a call of God to other spheres of life. The Apostle Paul states it thus, "Let every man abide in his own calling." What we need is more of Christ in Business, more spirituality in Labor. Until this is true the kingdom of God will suffer greatly. Let the doctor heal men in the Lord, as he uses the means God places at his disposal. Let the man of soil and of toil labor as unto Christ, trusting the Lord to be their chief reward and Rewarder. Let the nurse by the bedside of the sick and dying have within her bosom the spirit of the Great Healer of both soul and body. Let the master in the business world know that he is accountable to the Lord and has a Master in heaven to whom he is responsible. Let the educators of youth, the men and women of to-morrow, know that under God, they are world-builders, or world-destroyers, and the educational realm will know a new birth.

After we have done and realized the best for 1932 we shall still be unprofitable servants, but let not this keep us from doing our best for the Lord, depending on God-given wisdom and power. If you cannot find your place in life, "shine just where you are." God surely has your post office address in His files. If you have found your place, "then burn to the socket for God." We are in the greatest business universe, coworkers with God, laborers together with the Lord. What a calling! What a responsibility! What a reward in sight! What an opportunity to miss! What will we do with the 8784 hours in 1932—if the Lord will give them to us? Kitchener, Ont.

OUR PUBLICATION WORK

By O. N. Johns

The Mennonite Publication Board is an organization, owned and controlled by the Mennonite Church in the United States and Canada. This Board was organized Jan. 8, 1908, with its headquarters at Scottdale, Pa.

Prior to this there were different organizations, some controlled by the Mennonite Church in general, and some by certain groups of brethren, who were directly interested in publication work and the spreading of good literature. These were known as the Mennonite Publishing Co., Elkhart, Ind.; The Gospel Witness Co., and the Mennonite Book and Tract Society, both of Scottdale, Pa.

The Mennonite Publication Board, although its headquarters are at Scottdale, Pa., is organized under the laws of the state of Indiana, and the vice president must therefore be a citizen of that state.

The Board is composed of twenty-two members, who are appointed as follows: The Mennonite General Conference appoints three brethren and each of the district conferences appoints one. These board members meet at least biennially to reorganize and transact business relative to the publishing interests of the Church.

The Board at present is organized as follows: Pres. J. S. Shoemaker, Dakota, Ill.; Vice Pres. D. D. Troyer, Goshen, Ind., Sec'y., O. N. Johns, Canton, Ohio; Treas., Henry Hershey, Intercourse, Pa. These four with Aaron Loucks, manager of the Publishing House, and Levi Mumaw, Sec'y-Treas. of the House, constitute the Executive Committee. There are three other committees elected by the Board at its regular meetings, namely the Publishing Committee, the Finance Committee, and the Auditing Committee. These all help to safeguard and direct the publishing work.

As a Publication Board representing the Church, we realize that it is our major duty to send forth the Gospel message (Matt. 28:16-20) by means of the press. Many cults and religions are eagerly promoting and advancing their cause by means of the printing press, and it is therefore imperative that presses be employed for the spread of the truth to counteract their deadly poison, that life may be retained.

We note the unifying agency of our various periodicals and publications throughout the Church. The purpose of God in organizing the Church was "for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man" (Eph. 4:12, 13).

We also note the value of collecting historical facts relative to the work of the Mennonite Church in the various districts, and holding them for future reference.

Our publications are safeguarded because of the fact that we are a church institution and not a one-man institution. Our periodicals are not sent out by one man but by a group of individuals. Individuals are very much inclined to go off on a tangent and ride hobbies, and this is very often noticeable in the one-man publication concerns. The group representing our publishing interests are from a scattered area and of various temperaments and fancies, thus more or less safeguarding our publications in this respect. All publications excepting the regular periodicals and publications pass through the hands of the members of the Publishing Committee. They are read and censored, and then the committee decides as to whether it is advisable to have them printed or not. Job and custom printing is left largely to the discretion of the management of the House.

Another safeguard for our publications is the fact that nearly all our appointments are made annually or biennially, thus giving opportunity for a change, should any individual prove to be disloyal or be misplaced.

"We have endeavored to serve the Church by sending out literature that will be upbuilding and strengthening to those whom we reach, and thus extend the borders of the kingdom of Christ. We employ about thirty-five workers at present. The spirit of sacrifice and loyal service is manifested on the part of the workers. We are appreciative, too, of the patronage and good will of the brotherhood in the loyal support they have furnished, both for the financial and spiritual needs of the cause."

The Board is a servant of the Church for the spreading of good literature, and it donates a considerable sum of money annually in order that needy poor might receive some of our church papers. The house also suffers a loss because of unpaid subscriptions. We would like to get our church papers into every home, but this can only be done by the coöperation of individuals and individual congregations.

This resolution was passed at the last Publication Board meeting, held at Topeka, Ind., Aug. 19-21, 1931. "Since in many of our congregations there are homes that are not now receiving the Gospel Herald and other church periodicals, therefore be it

"Resolved, That we recommend that our congregations appoint someone to look after the subscription work in their home localities, and otherwise act as representative of the Publishing House."

The following are publications that are sent out regularly from our Publishing House. The last official report showed the circulation as follows:

Gospel Herald	11,650
Christian Monitor	5,000
Youth's Christian Companion	12,600
Words of Cheer	11,500
Beams of Light	8,270
The Way	25,560

Also Teachers' Lesson Quarterly, Advanced Lesson Quarterly, Junior Teachers' Quarterly, Junior Intermediate Quarterly, Primary Lesson Quarterly, German Lesson Quarterly, Picture Cards, English and German Almanacs, Mennonite Year-Book and Directory, Tracts, etc.

The above-named periodicals and lesson quarterlies are arranged and designed to supply reading matter that is adapted for the various age groups in the Church; reading matter that is clear cut and fearless in its declaration of the truth, and sound in its doctrinal teaching.

We solicit the coöperation of ministers and Christian workers in sending in for publication articles which they feel would be of interest and helpful to others, and also news items that would be of interest to the brotherhood in general.

In our book publications, the progress may seem slow. This is due in part to the fact that nearly all of our brethren who are gifted as authors must earn their livelihood by other means and therefore they do not find the time they desire and need for work of this kind. However, during the past year a number of books have come from our press. Among these are Mennonites of Lancaster Conference, by M. G. Weaver; Centennial History of the Mennonites of Illinois, by H. F. Weber; How to Succeed, by C. F. Yake; The Child, by L. L. Swartzentruber; and The Hutterian Brethren, by John Horsch. Other books are being planned for and will probably appear during the coming year.

With the economical management of the Publishing House, the faithful and sacrificial service of the Publishing Committee, authors, editors, and employees of the House, and the kind coöperation of the Church in general, the Publication Board has been able through recent years to send the Gospel message far and near through the printed page on a practically self-supporting basis.

May the Lord's continued blessings be upon this work for the strengthening of the saints, the saving of sinners, the upbuilding of the Church, and the exaltation of the Son of God.

Canton, Ohio.

MY BIBLE AND I

We've traveled together, my Bible and I,
Through all kinds of weather, with smile or with sigh;
In sorrow or sunshine, in tempest or calm
The friendship unchanging—my lamp and my psalm.

We've traveled together, my Bible and I,
When life had grown weary, and death e'en was nigh;
But all through the darkness of mist or of wrong,
I found there a solace—a prayer or a song.

So, now, who shall part us, my Bible and I?
Shall "isms," or schims, or "new lights" who try?
Shall shadow for substance, or stone for good bread,
Supplant thy sound wisdom, give folly instead?

Ah no, my dear Bible, exponent of light!
Thou sword of the Spirit, put error to flight;
And still through life's journey, until my last sigh,
We'll travel together, my Bible and I.

THE RECORD OF OUR SCHOOLS

By Orie O. Miller

It has been our lot to have had a more or less intimate touch with our church schools for more than twenty years, either as student or teacher or member of the Board of Trustees. We can recall certain incidents connected with the founding of each of our three existing institutions. This slightly more than three decades of experience on the part of our denomination in this relatively new department of church endeavor has been fraught with much of stress, strain, and serious problems, even with all the signs and evidences of real progress in working through the convictions of the Church's leadership in this, and the evidences of real benefit to the Church's program from these institutions. To many friends of the schools, each year has seemed a "crisis" year. To such 1931 was no exception.

This past year of depression has affected our schools variously. At Hesston the 1931-32 fall semester opened with a sharp drop in enrollment, thus continuing a decline which set in three years earlier. At Goshen the total enrollment figures have more nearly held their own but the shift in proportion of day and boarding students, the increase in evening and part-time students as compared with full-time regular enrollments show the influence of the general economic situation and vitally affect the school's budget operations as well. The Eastern Mennonite School reports an increased enrollment for the present year, but the increase is at least partly due to special last-minute solicitation efforts under a special arrangement. This special experiment is of Church-wide interest, since it indicates certain changes in method and policy which it may be wise to apply in this new day of changed economic values. Taking the three schools together, the total enrollment is between fifty and seventy-five less than a year earlier, or about ten per cent.

Since the planning for the year ahead has usually been done on the basis of a continuance of the present year's income, it can readily be seen why the annual budgets have seemed out of proportion, and why resulting deficits have been almost unmanageable. The fact that the supporting constituency has also felt the present economic pinch, resulting in a curtailed giving, makes the problem still more difficult. The net result is shown in growing indebtedness as against all three institutions, and forces the prospect of some radical changes in our Church school program.

Aside from the difficulties of finance, one notes encouraging progress in the fitting of our schools into the Church's general and Kingdom building program. A continually larger circle of leaders and laity are accepting the schools as essential and are interesting themselves in their problem. The financial stress, before mentioned, is no doubt a real blessing in that it helps to force many more to think through to fundamentals on the question and interrelationships of these institutions. The "why," the "how," and the "whether," will need to be thought and prayed through anew in the light of these new situations.

As stated before, it is our conviction that the Church has made commendable progress in this field of endeavor. In plant equipment, in faculty personnel, both as regards educational qualification, and in enthusiastic spiritual heart loyalty to the Faith and principles of the Word as interpreted by the Church, and in extent and interest of supporting constituency, our schools have never before been as fortunate as now. Our Deans report also an attitude of serious application on the part of this year's students, and a manifest desire on their part to make the most of this opportunity given them by the Church that is gratifying. It is my own deep personal conviction that our Church school program and policies bear an essential and vital relation to our efficiency and usefulness in our world-wide witness as a denomination in our Kingdom building service. Without the help of these institutions our efforts along a number of lines would be permanently crippled. Schools out of sympathy with or antagonistic to the Church's program and faith can do irreparable harm. Schools that are in tune with this program and faith can indeed be a blessing and a help. Those serving in the institutions and those delegated to guide this endeavor by counsel, direction, and support, deserve the prayers, the help and the sincere interest of the entire brotherhood.

NEVER FORGETFUL

"And wilt Thou now forget me, Lord?
Oh, no! it cannot be;
No earthly tongue can ever tell
What Thou hast been to me.

"Through all the chequer'd scenes of life
Thy love hath shelter'd me;
And wilt Thou now forsake Thy child?
Oh, no! it cannot be.

"In life or death, I take my stand
Where I have ever stood,
Beneath the shelter of Thy Cross,
And trusting in Thy Blood.

"And there, when youth, and health, and strength,
And energy have fled,
The shades of evening peacefully
Shall close around my head."

EVANGELISTIC ACTIVITIES

By Milo Kauffman

Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.—Matt. 28:19, 20 (Revised Version).

The Mennonite Church of to-day is conscious that she shares in the responsibility of carrying out this last, great commission of our Lord. She is interested in witnessing in the home community, in the nation, and even to the uttermost part of the earth. Witnessing to the lost, proclaiming to them the glad message of salvation, is what we mean by evangelism, for evangelism means the doctrine of the Gospel, or the doctrine of good tidings. All activities engaged in as a church to bring a lost world to a knowledge of salvation, and to a personal acceptance of Christ as Savior may be termed evangelistic activities. Every Church activity should contribute to our evangelistic enterprise, for the primary purpose of the Church is to carry out the great commission of Christ.

The activities, in which the Mennonite Church to-day is interested and in which she is participating, which may be called evangelistic, are numerous. A number of them will be here mentioned, and briefly commented upon.

1. Home Evangelism.—In the past too many children of Mennonite parents have slipped from the grasp of the Church. Christian parents should not leave the responsibility of the evangelizing of their children entirely to the Sunday school or the revival meetings. Evangelism should start in the home, by Christian parents. The Church is seeing the importance of this and is encouraging religious training in the home, family altars, helpful literature for the home, etc. That much is being accomplished in this way can be seen by evangelists who confer with parents concerning their children. Oftentimes the child that stands for Christ in the revival meetings has decided previously in the home, in consultation with the parents, that he would take the stand. The evangelistic efforts of any church are crippled if there is not coöperation between the Church and the home.

2. Sunday School Evangelism.—The Church has found in the Sunday school a great aid in the evangelistic effort. Thousands of boys and girls are being shown the way of salvation and become desirous of accepting Christ through the work of the Sunday school. Children are thus brought at the earliest possible moment into a conscious and intimate relationship to God as Father, and to Jesus Christ as Savior. A recent Christian worker has concluded that the finest strategy in evangelism was the winning of childhood and youth to Christ. It is estimated that from 80 to 90 per cent of the additions to the churches in America come through the Sunday school. Moody found that of an audience of 12,000, 9000 made the decision through the Sunday school. Perhaps one of our most effective and most economical ways of extending the borders of the Kingdom of Christ would be to establish more Sunday schools.

3. Evangelistic Preaching. — God has chosen through the "foolishness of preaching" to save some. In different congregations of our Church the pastors are preaching sermons that are highly evangelistic, and they are securing results. In different congregations that the writer has recently visited the ministers have preached such sermons and given the invitation, and as a result they have had large classes of applicants for church membership. One church had a class of twenty-two under instruction. These churches are not entirely dependent upon revival meetings for gathering in the unsaved.

4. Evangelistic Meetings.—I am glad that the Mennonite Church does not share the opinion that the day of evangelistic meetings or revival meetings is past. These meetings are still serving a large place in the evangelistic activities of the Church. Most of our churches have such meetings about once a year. It seems that in the year that has just passed exceptional results have been secured in a number of places. Different ones have expressed the opinion that more people are responding to the invitation to accept Christ than have done so for some time. Accompanied by the prayers of God's children, and with other forms of evangelism, revival meetings can do much for the Church.

5. Evangelism by Church Institutions.—The activities of our church institutions may also be classed with the evangelistic activities of the Church. (1) Our city missions are busily engaged in seeking the lost in our cities, and at the same time are contributing to the conservation of our people who make their homes in the city, either temporarily or permanently. (2) The Church schools are seeking to bring to Christ the unsaved who enter their walls. They are also using their students in definite evangelistic efforts in extension Sunday schools, work in jails, county homes, etc. They are preparing their students for definite Christian work. (3) Our hospital also is making its contribution by ministering to the sick and assisting them in finding the Savior.

6. Foreign Mission Work.—Through the missions in foreign fields the Mennonite Church is reaching the "uttermost parts." In spite of the depression of the past year new missionaries have been sent out, and the Church has made a noble effort to avoid diminishing its forces.

7. Evangelism through Literature. —Many of our congregations and members are working for the Lord by distribution of tracts and literature. "The Way" is finding its way into hundreds of homes, witnessing to the saving power of the Gospel of Jesus.

8. Personal Evangelism. — Recently I was in a congregation where the pastor believed in personal work, and practiced it. Different ones were being gathered into the Church, who had stood out for years. By the personal touch and invitation of the pastor they responded to the voice of the Spirit, accepted Christ and were taken into the Church. This also has been going on in other communities. There are many who need the personal touch of the personal worker who knows the Lord. It is often surprising what a few years of faithful personal work will do.

9. Cottage Prayer Meeting.—Some local churches have their prayer meetings in various homes of the community, thus making a special effort to get into the homes of the unsaved. This practice has won friends for the Church and souls for Christ. Many other congregations might well profit by such prayer meetings.

10. Summer Bible Schools or Vacation Bible Schools.—In recent years the number of Summer Bible Schools has been on the increase. In many of these the evangelistic emphasis has been pronounced, and some of the pupils have made, in the Summer Bible School, the decision for Christ. There are in this activity great evangelistic possibilities.

The Church should not depend entirely upon any one of these activities for gathering in the lost, but should use any or all of these means possible in order to work with greatest possible efficiency in carrying out the great commission. Likely, the church that will accomplish most in the way of evangelism will be the one that uses every evangelistic activity at its command.

ACTIVITIES OF THE MENNONITE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

By Levi Mumaw

During the past year the Mennonite Central Committee has again extended its service to our unfortunate brethren in their effort to establish a new home where they can exercise their religious convictions. This report is being prepared especially for use in the Year Books of our coöperating Mennonite groups.

The main task of the year has been the care of the Russian Mennonite colony in Paraguay, this work having been undertaken by the Committee at the request of a representative body of our associated groups of Mennonites of America. The close of the year 1930 brought new hope and cheer to the colonists, but also a sense of sorrow, because of the experiences of certain villages in the colony which had been visited by a serious epidemic of typhus. Their hearts were lightened because of the staying of the epidemic, as well as by the abundant rains which followed a long period of drought in that country, a period similar to that experienced in the United States. We can appreciate their sorrows when we remember that about seventy of their number died because of the epidemic. In some cases all of a family but one or two were taken while in other cases the losses were not so heavy in a family, but quite serious because either the father or mother were taken.

Final reports from the colony revealed the fact that a number of cattle perished because of the drought. Through the loss of the oxen many were prevented from breaking up enough ground, or planting sufficient acreage to raise enough food for this year. It was encouraging, however, to learn that after the rains began, although the rain came several months later than usual for that season of the year, there was plenty of moisture to enable the planting and harvesting of a good crop with a fair second crop. Details of the amount f food raised by the colonists have not as yet reached us.

In the early part of 1931 a special effort was made to help the colonists by the sending of Bro. T. K. Hershey, missionary in the Argentine, to visit them. His trip extended over a period of about five weeks and he returned to his field of labor in March. The object of this special contact with the colony was to have Bro. Hershey render any aid possible by way of encouragement and suggestions and to report his findings to the Executive Committee of the Mennonite Central Committee. His report was duly considered and definite action was taken on his recommendation to have a more direct contact with the colony from the United States through the sending of a representative from the Executive Committee to aid the colonists in setting up for themselves a coöperative organization within the colony and to give more direct consideration to their problems. Certain recommendations were made for the development of their spiritual activities such as the provision of some Bibles, song books, etc. A general outline of the financial needs of the colony was given, which has been given due consideration.

Not the least of the problems connected with the establishing of the colony has been that of providing the needed finances. Through strenuous efforts and special grants from organizations and individuals it has been possible to supply the necessary provisions. These demands were very heavy until the first harvest was gathered early in March of this year. Since that time the burden has been lightened considerably, but they have not yet become self-supporting and they will need our further assistance until the next crop is gathered in.

It will be remembered that their seasons are opposite from ours in this country, their planting season usually opening in September or October.

Two groups of Russian Mennonite refugees were added to the colony during the past year. On Aug. 21 a group of seventy persons reached the colony. They were of those who had been detained in Germany with the hope of being permitted to enter Canada, but when they found it impossible to do so they chose to go to Paraguay instead. A cable from the colony reported their arrival in good health. The latest group, consisting of 65 souls, left Germany on September 10. In this group were eight independent families. The rest were going to be united with families already established there. These were of those permitted to leave Russia by special grant to those who had been detained out of the families who had come out in the fall of 1929. This last group is en route at the time of this writing, September 25, and are reported to reach Buenos Aires October 1 and will then proceed to Puerto Casado to join the colony in the Chaco.

The problems of the Committee have been greatly increased this year because of the shortage of funds to carry on the work. The demands in other parts have had due consideration. Special efforts were made to secure assistance for the needy refugees detained at Harbin, China. Ways and means were sought to make it possible to help them find a new home, but our efforts have not yet become effective along this line. There are, however, certain prospects which may finally develop into definite action.

At the request of the Executive Committee, Bro. O. O. Miller, Assistant Secretary of the Central Committee, sailed from New York on August 8 for Brazil, Paraguay, and Argentina, South America. His schedule called for an absence of about three months. His duties called for a visit to each of the colonies in Brazil and Paraguay in the interest of the work of the Committee. According to information at hand, he visited the colony in Brazil and is now (Sept. 25) with the colony in Paraguay. After his work is finished here he will return to the Argentine to visit the American Mennonite missions located in that country, expecting to again reach New York in November. A cable report from Paraguay indicates that the colony will need $2250.00 each for the months of November and December, $1500.00 for January, 1931, and then slightly less per month for February and March. The task of our Committee will include the forwarding of these funds as they are being supplied by our constituencies.

This report would not be complete without referring to the religious activities of the colony. A number of special Bible conferences have been reported. Three distinct organizations or conferences have been effected by the refugees, affiliating themselves in similar bodies to those from which they had come in Russia. Sunday schools have been organized, and a general Sunday school meeting has been reported. Fifty-eight accessions to the church organizations by water baptism have been reported. In a special letter of thanks drawn up at a general harvest thanksgiving service which was held May 10, 1931, we glean the following statements:

"On this day we feel ourselves especially indebted to return to our heavenly Father the thanksgiving of our hearts for the help He has granted us in the year that is passed, and for which we, notwithstanding various difficulties, were permitted to harvest from our fields."

"But we also thank you, dear brethren, and in a special way the dear brother, Prof. Bender, for all that you have done for us. We do not find words sufficient to express to you our gratefulness. Gladly we would at some time do this orally, but since this is impossible, we must commit it to paer."

CONRAD GREBEL

By John Horsch

Among the founders of the Mennonite (Swiss Brethren) Church Conrad Grebel was the recognized leader. Menno Simons was not the founder of the denomination which is to-day named after him. In a brief biography written by himself, Menno shows that after his conversion he united with a brotherhood which had existed for some time. Conrad Grebel was called to his reward a decade before Menno Simons' conversion.

Conrad Grebel was born probably in 1489. His father, Jacob Grebel, a nobleman, was a Senator, that is to say, a member of the Council of Zurich (since 1515). Conrad was the oldest of a family of eight or nine children. During his teens the family lived in the small town of Grueningen, the center of a political district of the canton Zurich, of which Jacob Grebel was at that time the highest official (landvogt).

According to the testimony of Zwingli, Jacob Grebel was "a distinguished man, held among us in the highest regard." "He was an honorable, wise and in the city of Zurich a very eminent, highly esteemed man," says Heinrich Bullinger, the successor of Zwingli as the religious head of the Protestant state churches of German Switzerland. Another contemporary chronicler states that Conrad's father, in the earlier period of the reformation movement, "supported Zwingli in all that he preached and taught, and assisted him in his efforts."

Conrad, as a youth, attended various schools at Zurich. In the autumn of 1514 he became a student in the university of Basel, and from 1515 to 1518 he studied in the university of Vienna in Austria. While in Vienna he lived with Joachim von Watt (called Vadian) of St. Gall in Switzerland, his intimate friend, who was at that time professor of the classical languages in this institution, and who later married Conrad's sister Martha. From October, 1518, to July, 1520, Conrad was a student in Paris.

After his return from Paris he went to Basel to continue his studies, and then accepted a position as corrector with the printing firm of Cratander in the same city, to assist in the publication of Latin books. The head of this firm, in a letter, referred to him as a young man of excellent talent whose presence was an honor to his establishment. Zwingli, in August, 1522, spoke of Conrad Grebel as "a noble and learned youth." Vadian and a number of others who learned to know young Grebel, made mention also of his outstanding talents and uprightness of character. Conrad Grebel's scholarly attainments are attested by the fact that, as Bullinger states, Zwingli promised him and Felix Mantz to recommend them for the position of teacher in the theological school that was planned for Zurich, and Zwingli's recommendation assured their appointment. Before this school was opened, however, both Grebel and Mantz had withdrawn from Zwingli's leadership.

It is sometimes said that Conrad Grebel in his earlier years was a humanist. Some have understood the term "humanist" in the sense in which it is now commonly used, namely of a religious liberal of a certain type. Grebel was a humanist in the sense of being a student of the humanities. (See Webster for definitions.) His letters of that period show that he was not a religious liberal. However, he was before his conversion but slightly interested in religion.

In the autumn of the year 1522 he experienced a religious awakening which was followed by a thorough conversion. His conversion marked a great epoch in his life. It meant not merely a definite intellectual acceptance of the truths of the Gospel but involved thorough repentance and a radical change of heart and life. He renounced all worldliness and became a zealous student of Scripture. Zwingli expected much of him as an assistant in the great task of the reformation of the church.

For lack of space the interesting story of Conrad Grebel's withdrawal from Zwingli's leadership, and its causes, cannot here be told. The parting of the ways came when Zwingli, contrary to his former program, consented to a union of church and state, involving the establishment of a state church in which the whole population was to be compelled to hold membership, the civil authorities tolerating no dissent. In his earlier years Zwingli had advocated the organization of a church of the New Testament type, consisting of those who personally believed and accepted Christ. It was Zwingli, not Grebel, who deviated from their first program.

After the establishment of the first congregation of the Swiss Brethren, in January, 1525, Conrad Grebel labored under great difficulties in various parts of Switzerland and South Germany: in Zurich, St. Gall, Grueningen, Waldshut, Schaffhausen, the Grisons. He was repeatedly imprisoned and threatened with severer punishment. After a cruel imprisonment in Zurich, in the spring of 1526, he went to Maienfeld in the Grisons, Switzerland, where he was again imprisoned. He died here in prison, in July or August of the same year. This was about six months before the death of Felix Mantz, at Zurich, who was the first martyr executed by Protestants.

While, as intimated above, Conrad Grebel was not the founder of the Swiss Brethren Church in a similar sense as Zwingli was the founder of the Reformed Church and Luther of the Lutheran Church, he was the most talented and prominent of the first leaders of the Brethren. As a young man of prominent family and of great talent he saw the opportunity for a distinguished career if he would, like many others, quench his convictions and remain with the state church party, which enjoyed the favor and protection of the civil authorities. He had ardently hoped that the leading reformers, Luther and Zwingli, would, in agreement with their original programs, organize voluntary churches of the New Testament type. He had hoped that toleration would be granted by the Protestant civil authorities. But when these hopes proved disappointing he was ready to endure persecution for his scriptural convictions. For the sake of the evangelical truth he became an outcast and virtually an outlaw, counting not his life dear unto himself. In consecration and "zeal for the Lord's house" he was equal to those who suffered persecution with him. Their ideal was the sincere acceptance and uncompromising practice of the whole of evangelical truth.

Conrad Grebel's labors extended only over a period of less than three years, yet he accomplished much as a leader in one of the great movements in the history of the Christian Church.

PRAYER AND IMMUTABLE LAW

The writer has long been impressed with one phase of this subject that seems not to have been properly stressed, if, indeed, it has even been clearly stated. We refer to the eternal and immutable law of prayer.

The immutability of natural law has often been stressed as, in fact, precluding the possibility of man receiving direct answers to his prayers. But when God's prayer law has been given its true place among those changeless laws, its real importance will then be more easily recognized, and due deference to it will be the more readily given.

Not least, among the mighty works of creation, was the framing and putting into operation of an inconceivable number of laws; laws covering every detail of the mineral, vegetable and animal kingdoms. Laws for light, heat, sound, gravitation and growth; for wind, wave, lightning, and cloud; for life in the jungle, in the air and in the sea; laws for man; for his body, mind and spirit; laws touching every phase of his condition and conduct; and these laws of God for man were just as fixed and changeless as His laws for the birds, or trees, or tides or light.

Among these fixed and changeless laws for man is the law of prayer, as eternal and immutable as the law of gravitation; and as much more important, as a human soul is more important than a material world.

The omniscience and the omnipotence of God become more manifest to us when we see Him put in operation two immutable laws that seem to us directly opposed to each other but which nevertheless operate in perfect harmony. It is evident that in God's hand, all of these fixed and changeless laws are so fitted together as to operate in perfect peace, even where we would expect constant friction, since adjustment is one element of their changeless characters.

To illustrate: We are somewhat familiar with the law of gravitation with its universal and mighty downward pull on every atom of matter. But yonder on the face of that overhanging cliff is a rock that juts out over the chasm. It weighs many tons, and gravity is pulling at it with the power of a locomotive. Why does it not obey that immutable law? Why does it not fall? Answer: Because God made another immutable law, the law of cohesion which grips and holds that jutting rock in defiance of all the power of gravitation. The struggle between cohesion and gravitation has continued for centuries, with cohesion the strongest. Yet there is no disturbance, no noise, no friction. It is a perfectly harmonious clash, between two fixed and unchangeable laws of God. Neither law is abrogated, or suspended for an instant. Temporarily one yields to the other. The normal effect of one is for a time held in abeyance. Wind and weather may some day so weaken the grip of cohesion, that gravity will conquer. Then that rock will fall suddenly from the cliff to the chasm below. Then, too, the will of man may interpose to hasten, or delay, the operation of nature's forces. Man may assist gravity to tear the rock loose a thousand years before otherwise it would have happened. So, too, gravity itself may yield to the will of man. He can hurl that rock upward in direct conflict with gravitation; and all of this God provided for in the plan of the universe and of man as a free moral agent therein.

We turn now to the eternal law of prayer, framed and enacted along with all of the other laws, and as perfectly adjusted to them all as they are to each other. Much confusion of thought will be averted if we bear in mind that prayer and its answer are under their own fixed laws. It need surprise no one if nine-tenths of all the petitions addressed to God seem to receive no answer. They are too much like the spontaneous, thoughtless, off-hand requests of selfish children. They do not conform to the law of prayer, and therefore have no promise of an answer. It may be confidently asserted that there is too much praying of this kind, both public and private. A dozen such prayers, though they be long, energetic and emotional, may easily amount to less with God, than one earnest, thoughtful request that is obedient to the divine law of prayer. When this law is met God's answer to prayer will cause no more friction or violation of natural law than does man's raising of the stone against the law of gravitation. The law of prayer is as perfectly adjusted to natural law as the law of man's freedom is to gravity. God is demonstrating the force of gravitation and other natural forces before our eyes every day. They need no specific pledge; but we do need a demonstration of the law of prayer, because prayer presupposes the cooperation of our fallen humanity with God. God consequently has revealed His divine pledge back of the law:

"Whatsoever ye shall ask, in my name, that will I do;" and again, "If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it." God here is not inviting chaos. He is inviting us to explore our possibilities through prayer as He invited us to explore our possibilities through electricity.

The Scriptures contain no scientific explanation of prayer, but in an experimental way they lead us into its practice until the presenting of our petitions to God, becomes as simple and natural a matter as the act of a hungry child in asking its mother for food. The holy Fatherhood of God is the key that unlocks the mystery of prayer and the prayer law.

Our best illustration of the real harmony between fixed laws and an answered prayer, will be found in the home. Before that home was established, its character was determined and many plans were made for its management. Love is to dominate there, the parental will is to be the fixed law of the home, and every child must submit to this law. In planning the home the parents also provide that the children shall come to them with a multitude of little requests, some wise and right, some foolish and harmful. They doubtless know that, in love, they will have to deny many requests that are unwise. They know, too, that it will be their joy to grant the requests that are good. This interplay of wills in no way conflicts with the will of the parents for the home, since the fixed law of that home, contemplated this fatherly grace when it was instituted. It was all in the parental plan. No phase of the home life was more thoroughly foreordained in the thought of those parents than was this. One of the surest ways to spoil this home and to blight its joy would be for the children to become abnormal and, through some false reasoning about the supremacy of the parental will, to conclude that their little requests did not count. Such an abnormal attitude on the part of the children would not only take much of the joy out of their own childhood, but it would also seriously rob the parents. The human parent loves to give himself to his children in his answers to their requests, and so also does God. Our foolish thought, about God's fixed laws making our prayers useless, is robbing both ourselves and God. It is not a passive submission to His will which God seeks, but an eager, obedient, desiring trust. This is what God would find in us. Not to pray is rebellion, for God has commanded us to pray. "Men ought always to pray and not to faint," said Jesus; and Paul commands, "Pray without ceasing." He who trustingly prays fulfills God's law for man, and maintains the divine harmony of this world as God planned it; but he who refuses to pray violates that law, and introduces discord and failure.

One day a leper approached Jesus with this prayer: "Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean." The instant response was, "I will. Be thou clean." The cure was immediate and complete. Just what law of God was violated there? Just what damage was done to any law?

As Jesus moved about the country, before Him were sorrow, tears, sickness, pain and death; but behind Him was a trail of life and health and song. What law of God was being violated by Jesus' works? Those direct prayers and their answers were obedient to God's prayer law. All of the discord and friction in evidence there was introduced by those who opposed His good work. All God's laws are equally immutable; and we may well be glad that among them none more important, none more fixed and unchangeable, than the law of prayer.—Edward Deacon in Christian Faith and Life.

There is danger even in preparing for the Lord's coming. The practical preparation consists, first, of a full entering into fellowship with Him in our own spiritual life, then getting out of ourselves and living for the help of others and the preparation of the world for His coming.—A. B. Simpson.

"THE FIRST AID KIT" Of the Scriptures

If you find yourself in a sudden trouble or sorrow, apply instantly Hebrews 12:5-11, and saturate your heart in Psalm 23.

If you have slipped down and hurt yourself, Psalm 91 will be found to greatly benefit.

When that lonely feeling steals over the heart, a good stimulant will be found in Matthew 11:28-30.

Should you be suffering from loss of memory and cannot call to mind your blessings, try a good dose of Psa. 103.

In time of failing strength and courage, two or three applications of I John 5:13-15 will be found beneficial.

Whenever you find that bitter taste in your mouth and cannot speak lovingly of others, take a good draught of I Corinthians 13 and Psa. 34:12, 13.

Some days when your faith is weak try the tonic found in Hebrews 11.

N. B.—Keep the General Instruction Book (Holy Scriptures) handy for all occasions. It is well to make yourself conversant with all the remedies it prescribes, for the benefit of others as well as yourself.—Publisher Unknown.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN RUSSIAN RELIEF?

FEEDING THE HUNGRY

RUSSIA FAMINE
1919—1925

TELLS ITS OWN STORY

of the race with the grim reaper DEATH in a land of political revolution and the persecution of a once thrifty and progressive people combined with the results of Civil War and finally the monster FAMINE.

Thousands Were Saved

from starvation through the united effort of Mennonites in America. The book tells how the news of their distress and need first reached America; what efforts were made to bring relief; how our contact was made in Russia; how our food was delivered and finally prepared and fed to the starving.

You Have An Opportunity to help again in the present effort to bring relief to those who have left home and native country for a land of religious freedom and civil rights to hold property. This book is published by the Mennonite Central Committee and every sale brings back to its treasury about two-thirds of the retail price which will become available for further relief work. You are providing a splendid book for your library and at the same time helping the cause of relief through your purchase.

Read the following message from President Hoover, Washington, D. C., regarding the book:

"It presents a wonderful record of generosity and service by those of the Mennonite faith which perhaps only those like myself, with whom the society so effectively cooperated will ever fully appreciate. For a society of such limited membership and such moderate means to have contributed over $1,300,000.00 to these purposes in addition to their other burdens during the war, is evidence of self-denial and generosity which brings credit upon the whole American Life"

The book is substantially bound in cloth with gold back and side stamp. 465 pages with 60 additional pages of illustrations. Size 6 x 8¼ inches. Weight 2lb.

By Harry F. Weber

In a volume of almost 700 pages, the author traces in detail the history of the Mennonites of Illinois from the very first settlement in 1829, now more than a hundred years ago, down to the present time. He has spared no pains in preparing an accurate survey of the early prairie settlements, and traces the growth of these early settlements into the large communities with hundreds of members supporting active church organizations and charitable institutions. The story includes interesting accounts of pioneer life, together with a description of the growth of the pioneer religious life and organization of the newly arrived Mennonite immigrants from Alsace and South Germany into religious organizations with Sunday Schools, mission enterprises, young people's activities, and the like.

This volume is exhaustive, not only in covering all the nine branches within the state, but also in giving a detailed account of every congregation and institution in the various branches. The volume is encyclopedic in character, and will without doubt remain the standard work in its field. Its usefulness is much increased by maps, illustrations, statistical tables, a biographical appendix, and several extensive indices.

MENNONITES OF LANCASTER CONFERENCE

By Martin G. Weaver

The author has spared no time or expense in gathering the historical matter necessary for a publication of this kind. The original purpose of this work, as related by the author, was to make a record and a comparison of the growth or decline of the many Mennonite Congregations in Lancaster County, and to compile a complete list of all bishops, ministers, and deacons with the dates and terms of service, as well as to record the location of the early meetinghouses and the dates of their erection, ending with the list of the present congregations, Sunday schools, and other departments in the service of God, as conducted by the church. This purpose has been accomplished with added historical matter of general interest.

The material is arranged by Bishop Districts and can readily be understood by all. The enlarged chapter on Sunday Schools, Missions and Charitable Institutions in the Conference district is of more than passing interest.

A chapter is devoted to the work of the Lancaster Conference. This is of vital importance and will be of interest to the entire Mennonite church body. Other Mennonite bodies located within the borders of the Lancaster Conference District are included in the history in a brief way. A chapter is devoted to the list of Church leaders in other Mennonite conferences who came originally from Lancaster Conference. Practically all the leading conferences in the United States and Canada have been affected by this emigration in earlier years.

A complete record is given of ordinations of bishops, ministers, and deacons with dates of death and ages within the Lancaster Conference District.

The book contains about 550 pages including 47 illustrations. Some of the early landmarks as well as a number of the present meetinghouses are shown by the illustrations. Size of pages 5¾ by 8¼ inches. Bound in cloth with side and back stamps in gold.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY to render a personal service in the work of a Church Institution may never be opened to you but there may be ways and means at your command which have been unnoticed. The work of the Mennonite Publishing House has been made possible through a consistent financial program carried out by the assistance given thruout the Church by individuals. This service can be extended to others and you are invited to have a share in it. Please note the following suggestions.

ANNUITIES

This form of donation is appealing to many of our people. A certain rate of interest is paid on the donation as long as the donor lives. After death the interest is discontinued and the principal is in the hands of the institution. It provides a safe investment. The interest is paid every six months. No state or inheritance tax can be collected from it. The donor becomes his own administrator of his estate.

The Gospel Herald and Christian Monitor Annuities are being continued. $30.00 pays for the Gospel Herald for a life time. $20.00 pays for the Christian Monitor.

DONATIONS

Further development of the work will be greatly enhanced by the assistance that is given in the form of donations. The possibilities for the spread of Gospel Truths are increasing as the years go by and the printing industry is developed. Millions of pages of printed matter are being circulated thru our present equipment. The possibility of increasing this circulation is ever before us. If you cannot make your donation now, a bequest in your will can easily be arranged. An opportunity for real service in the cause of the Master is open to those who have financial means at their command.

LOANS

Until the present liabilities are cancelled by either of the above forms or through the profits of the work of the Institution the loan department will be open to our people. While the original loans were sufficient to cover all indebtedness, there are constant changes through the calling of these loans made to the House. As these calls are satisfied, they are replaced with other loans. We thus have a sort of banking arrangement. Money is received as needed in any amount not less than $100.00. Thirty days notice is required to withdraw it. The interest is paid annually. Notes are written for one year and automatically renew as the interest is paid.
